or later to get Uncle Sam into very hot water. There can be no complaint of the action of Admiral Nicholson in sending marines for the protection of the American consulate, but as for aiding the Khedive in "preserving order" in Alexandria, after that worthy had betrayed his country's cause to a foreign invader, he sition he has held for the past three years. He had no more right to do it than he would have had, before the bombardment, to aid Arabi Bey to preserve the order which none but the British appeared to be bent on violating. The American seople do not desire that their government shall be made to play the part of a flunkey to that of Great Britain. Whatever was done at Alexandria by Admiral Nicholson's orders, beyond protecting American interests, deserves the severest condemnation. What that was is not yet clear. He says that he co-operated with the British forces in preserving order at the request of the Khedive. If this co-operation was limited to supplying so much of the force as the safety of the American consulate required, he did right. But the asinine stories by the British correspondents that stories by the British correspondents that he threatened to keep his ship within "Be brave, Beryl."

The north wind was howling flereely through range of Arabi Bey's guns, and if struck the cordage of a much vessels as she dashed to return fire, and that Lord Charles Beresford-a sort of English head policeman-was "awfully obleeged" to him for the support and services of our marines, all tended to favor the impression that our admiral was "too awfully jolly, you know," in English estimation to be trusted with discretion where the wisest diplomats almost fear to tread.

about this time," than are the self-appointed organs of the self-styled "better class of citizens" to the old stock formula "The people breathe more freely now, for Congress has adjourned." This is not because the representatives of the people chessen by the people themselves are not as worthy of the respect and confidence of the people as are the writers who have never been appointed judges over them, but because it is known to the class of editors of whom we speak that there is a considerable element in every community which is best pleased when people are spoken ill of. The men chosen by the American people to make their laws are such as the majority believe will serve them best. The men elected do not in some States obtain certificates of their election, and when there are enough false certificates given to change the majority of the House of Representatives and make it the reverse of what the people voted for, then the countries and the countries of the people with the case of their reverse of what the people are as the reverse of what the people are the reverse of the reverse of what the people are the reverse of what the people are the reverse of the reverse of wha "The people breathe more freely now, try may well breathe easier when it adjourns. But we have made but little progress as a self-respecting Nation if evidenced by the fact that every two members who have been most severely denounced by the few newspapers whose editors suppose themselves to be in charge of the public conscience. We claim for the press the right of free criticism, but we regard as most criticism, but we regard as most vicious and injurious to the public good that unceasing railing against the people's representatives, which would, if half of it were true, make revolution a duty and despotism a boon. The attempt of a dozen editors, who echo each other like dogs in the country at night, or barn-yard fowls in the morning, to educate the people down to the idea that all who can command their suffrages to be despised, and that The unit of THE WEBELY NATIONAL REPUBLICAN the men who make our laws are public enemies-this is a vile mission, and would be dangerous to social order if those who engage in it could make themselves believed. The people believe in their chosen representatives, and the newspapers which always abuse them are really abusing the people and denying their capacity for self-government. We enter here our opinion that the people have felt no anxiety growing out of the session of Congress, and will not, therefore, experience any sense of relief because of its final adjournment. MEMBERS of the Business Men's Moderation Society of New York are not permitted to drink "more than one glass at a time." We suppose the topers in that city drink from two classes at once.

Made by Doorkerper Brownlow. The folding-room of the House of Representatives is officered by the following efficient gentle-ment: The new superintendent, recently appointed by Doorkeeper Brownlow to succeed Colonel John R. Popham, is Mr. Sydney M. Robinson, of Niagara County, New York. He is chairman of his County Republican Committee, which position he has held for the past three years. He was two years sergeant-at-arms of the New York State assembly. On the organization of the House of Representatives last winter Mr. Robinson was appointed chief elerk of the folding-room over a number of strong contestants for the coveted position. Doorkeeper Brownlow has given him entire charge of the folding-room, and says he will be held responsible to the government for his faithful performance of duty. The appointment of Mr. Robinson to this position has given great satisfaction to the members of the House.

It was heryl McCloskey's wedding trip. Two days agone she had been joined in wedlock's holy bonds to George W. Simpson, and her mother had consented to go with them on their bridal journey. It was her loving arm that supported Beryl now, her kindly voice that speke the words with which this chapter opens.

"George caunot love me, mamma," the girlanid, speaking in low, mellow tones, "or he would be at my side now, when I need him so sorely."

"Do not judge hastily, my child," replied the mother. "George is preity busy. Even now I see him leaning over the vessel's side.

"Is he then so very, very slex!" asked Beryl.

"Quite very," and Mrs. McCleskey.

"Has he thrown up his dimation."

"No, my darling."

sey, Pageed.
On motion of Mr. Morrill, the House bill repeal-an extra month's pay.

Mr. Plumb vigorously protested against it.
The resolution passed.
Mr. Allison, from the Appropriations Committee reported the House joint resolution appropriating $50,000 to supply a deficiency in the appropriation for fees of United States district attorneys for the last fiscal year. Passed.

Mr. Anthony, at his own instance, was excused from service on the select committee upon heavy ordnance, and Mr. Rollins was appointed in his Mr. Bolliny, from the Naval Committee, reported the House resolution instructing the Secretary of the Navy to convene a court of inquiry to investi-gate as to the loss of the steamer Jeannette am-the death of Lieutenant-Commander Du Long

The House bills for a railway bridge acrost the Mississippi at or near the mouth of the Upper Iowa River in Iowa; granting right of way to the Jacksonville and St. Augustine Railroau Company; donating condenues east-iron earmon to certain monumental associations, and referring the claims of the captors of the ram Abenarle to the Court of Claims were considered and passed.

Mr. Plumb offered a concurrent resolution for an adjournment sine de to-day at 5 o'clock. He charged that the re-possibility for the extension of the present session was chargeable solely to the dilatoriness of the House in maturing the appropriation bills.

dilatoriness of the House in maturing the appropriation bills.

Mr. Morrill objected to the present consideration of the resolution, in order, as ne stated, to have it lie over for one day, under the rule.

Mr. Cameron, of Pennsylvania, then moved an executive assion, but yielded temporarily to Mr. Morrill to make a further statement. The latter added that, as the main business of the season had been finished, the Sense had now ample opportunity to consider the tax bill. He would now appeal to the oiner side to a low the bill to come up and either be yoted upon without further debate or at a time fixed. up and either be voted upon without further de-bate or at a time fixed.

Mr. Beck said he indorsed every word uttered by Mr. Flumb, and was glad that that gentleman had the courage to say what he had said. journment showing the presence of only 109 members; and at 11 o'clock the seasion of Monday was opened.

The House proceeded to the consideration of business under the "Pound" rule.

Mr. Neal, under instructions from the Committee on the District of Columbia, called up the House bill "quieting the title of the United States in the land known as the Potomac flats."

An amendment, offered by Mr. McMillan, was adopted, providing that the work of reclaiming the flats shall not be begun until after the suits authorized by the bill shall have been decided.

The bill was defeated—54 to 55.

Mr. Burrows, under instructions from the Committee on Appropriations, reported a resolution appropriating $5,000 to enable a select committee of nine members to examine into the works now in progress for the improvement of the Mississippi fliver below Cairo, and the methods employed in making such improvement. The committee is also authorized to inquire into all matters pertaining to the outlet and jetty systems and report the result of their inquiries at the next session of Congress. Adopted.

Under the call of States, the following bills were introduced and referred:

By Mr. Robeson: To reduce taxation. [This bill is identical with the tax bill as it now stands in the Sepate, except that it does not provide for the polariscope test.

By Mr. Cox, of New York: To abolish licenses on commercial travelers.

Mr. Robeson moved to suspend the rules and put upon its passage the bill just introduced by him to reduce taxation.

Mr. Mills demanded a second, but there were only 52 in the affirmative and 8 in the negative.

Mr. Robeson trusted that no gentleman on the observation was and appears and the other states would observe and believe and states and the observation on the observation was and appears and the other states would observe and believe and states and the observation on the observation was and the other states and the other states would observe to a bill which contents.

Mr. Ellis and Mr. Cox, of New York, raised the point of ne quorum.
Mr. Robeson trusted that no gentieman on the other side would object to a bill which reduced taxation $43,000,000.
Mr. Mills—it reduces taxation on the wealth of the country and leaves it upon the poverty of the country. It takes the tax off banks and puts it on the cotton growers.
Mr. Randall—When the Committee on Ways and Means tried to reduce taxation to the extent of $70,000,000 your caucus prevented it. This is merely buncombe, and there is no sincerity-in it. THERE WAS NO PROSPECT OF A QUORUM

the Democratic side, and suggestions that the word "honest" be withdrawn.

On motion of Mr. Murch, a bill was passed authorizing the construction of a bri ge across the St. Croix River, between Calais, Me., and St. Stephen, New Brunswick.

The House then, at 1.50, took a recess for two hours. THERE WAS NO PROSPECT OF A QUOBUM

The House then, at 1:50, took a recess for two hours.

After the recess the Speaker amounced the appointment of Meisra. Burrows, Butterworth, Robinson of Massachuse its, Hazelton, Hiscack, Thomas, Carlisle, Holman, and Elbin as methods of the respect committee to investigate the methods of the majorement of the Massissippi River.

The House then, at 4:20, took a recess until 8 o'clock, Mr. Hiscock, who made the motion, stating that the chances were even that Congress would adjourn to night.

BUSINESS CHANCES. TEN DOLLARS FOR ONE.

One hundred and fifty thousand dollars of RAIL-WAY MINING COMPANY stock for sale at TEN PER CENT, of face value. The four rich mines of this Company are in Beaver Head County, Montana, near Dillion, on the Ogden and Helena Brauch of the Union Pacific Bailroad. Twenty thousand dollars of the ore has been already taken out and is on the ground waiting shipment to market, and is worth 100 to the ton.

It costs one dollar to mine and $25 per ton to reach market with it. These shares are put on sale to raise capital to erect works and hereafter reduce the ores at the mines before snipping. These shares will be non-assessable and none other will be sold by the Company. Hepeated assays show great richness of deposits. GENERAL PAUL VANDERVOHT, Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, president of the Company, is now arranging for the rapid operation of the mines, and this chance of a distinct, that will pay from 100 to 1,00 per cent on investments, will be efferted for a few days only.
